ACCIDENT OCCURS: An accident on Nov. 3 resulted in damage to three buildings when a 1977 Ford drove through the corner of Bob's Auto Body, in background, crashed into the porch of Jean Hummel, 2003 Edwardsville Road, at right, and came to rest in the driveway of the home, in foreground. The driver of the vehicle then fled the scene. A window at 2005 Edwardsville Road also was broken by debris. The car was northbound on McCambridge Avenue and was turning onto Edwardsville Road when the mishap occurred. Madison police are investigating.

Motorcyclist injured in 3 vehicle crash

GRANITE CITY — Freda L. Lewis Byrd, 39, 2524 Circle Drive, was in satisfactory condition Thursday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was admitted Nov. 1 following an accident on Nameoki Road at East 27th Street.

The mishap occurred when a car operated by Darleen M. Fisher, 25, 2227 Edna St., was halted northbound on Nameoki Road, preparing to turn.

Byrd was on a motorcycle behind Fisher and also was stopped when a van driven by Gregory J. VanHorn, 20, St. Louis, allegedly struck the cycle, which then hit the rear of Fisher's car.

VanHorn was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Fisher also sustained injuries and was taken by ambulance to the medical center, where she was treated and released.

Retired police officer allegedly batters wife

GRANITE CITY — A retired Granite City police officer was booked for battery after a summons was issued Nov. 1.

The state charge against Everett C. Kelly, 56, of the 3100 block of Parkview Drive, resulted from a report made by his wife, Patricia Ann Kelly, 38, who alleged she was battered.

Nov. 1 in the Family Division of the Third Circuit Court, a spokesman for the division said Friday.

The Madison County state's attorney's office authorized Granite City police to file the state allegation of battery against Everett Kelly, Assistant Police Chief Ron Seip said.

An order of protection on Patricia Kelly's behalf was entered.

A hearing date has yet to be set.

Women 'back to work' conference planned

By Terry Edelmann

Women with a career change in their future shouldn't miss the Back to School/Back to Work workshop at the Generations of Women Conference, conference officials say.

The conference, sponsored by Jewish Hospital, Southwestern Bell Telephone and the Suburban Journals, will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday (Nov. 13) at the John E. Simon Hall at Washington University.

The Back to School/Back to Work workshop is one of 15 workshops that will address major concerns of contemporary women.

Workshop leader Suzanne Hoffman said her discussion panel has a simple goal.

"We want to give women who are contemplating a change a feeling of optimism," she said.

Hoffman said she and each of her four panelists did more than contemplate change.

"We're all doing things now that none of us were trained to do at an early age," she said.

"We took a few chances; some of us even made a few decisions people said we were crazy to make. But we did it and we want to show it can be done."

Panelists for the workshop are Mary Burke, principal of Whitefield School; Peggy Schweig, president of St. Louis Scene; Madge Teeger, an author and counselor at Washington University; and Gloria McLenn, a recent graduate of Jewish Hospital School of Nursing.

"All of us went back to school or entered a career not right after college," Hoffman said.

"Some of us wanted to do it and some of us had to."

Hoffman, 53, graduated from St. Louis University Law School six years ago, 25 years after she got her undergraduate degree.

"My kids were old enough and I wanted to go to law school," she said.

Hoffman said each panelist will tell her own story and answer questions from the audience.

"We want to tell the women what it's like to go back," she said.

"It may sound like an insurmountable effort. They may stop and think 'Is it worth it?'"

Going back to work or school can alter a woman's personality if she's not careful, Hoffman said.

Admission to the conference is free. For information, persons may call (314) 454-8890.

Student transport available here if dangerous circumstances exist

An Illinois law known as Senate Bill 1799 allows parents/guardians to receive reimbursement for transportation of a school child who lives within one and a half miles of the school he or she attends — if hazardous conditions due to vehicular traffic are present.

Such conditions are:

- (1) If walking constitutes a serious hazard to the safety of the pupil due to vehicular traffic; and
- (2) Such pupil does not have access to transportation provided entirely at public expense to and from the school and pupil's residence.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) is required to determine what constitutes a serious safety hazard.

For IDOT to make that determination, the parent/guardian of a pupil must file an application entitled "Application for Determination of Serious Safety Hazard" with the regional superintendent of schools no later than Feb. 1, 1989, for the 1988-89 school year.

The applications may be obtained from Harry A. Briggs Jr., regional superintendent of schools, 201 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, Ill., or by calling 652-0200, ext. 4641.

Any parent/guardian who received a determination that a serious safety hazard existed for the 1987-88 school year need not resubmit the "Application for Determination of Serious Safety Hazard" form for four years.

Instead, the parent/guardian must certify on their application for reimbursement form (the computer form filled out at the child's school) that the conditions are unchanged.

If the parent/guardian has moved or the student is attending a different school, a new application must be submitted.

Daughters of Union Veterans hold holiday lunch

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Aunt Becky Young Tent 92, held a luncheon and business meeting Oct. 27 at Jerry's Cafeteria, Granite City.

by Arline Fox.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Patriot Instructor Alma Beckman. Reading of the Records was done by Secretary Enid Bolin, and the treasurer's report was given by Louise Thompson.

A thank-you note was received from the United Way.

A new member, Shirley Stallings, was initiated by Irma Taylor. The altar was draped in memory of Kathryn Hole, and a contribution was voted in her name to the Grand Army of the Republic Living Memorial Fund.

Get-well cards were sent to Verna Michel and Mary Ston-

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10, with Arline Fox as hostess.

SIUE Theater season bringing new shows and new changes

When the curtain goes up on the new theater season at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, it will not only go up on some new shows but will also go up 45 minutes earlier.

Behind the scenes, some changes in image for the SIUE department of theater and dance are also premiering.

The first show of the 1988-89 season is "Mame," a musical based on the stage play "Auntie Mame" and the novel of the same name by Patrick Dennis, nom de plume of novelist

Edward Everett Tanner. The musical runs at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 10-12 and 17-19, and at 2 p.m. Nov. 13 and 20.

This is the story of a flamboyant flapper who finds herself the guardian of her late brother's 10-year-old son, Patrick, during the years just before the Great Depression. Determined the boy will receive a progressive education, Mame includes him in her "modern" lifestyle, much to the chagrin of the boy's prudish financial trustee. As Patrick matures, it becomes apparent he has learned his Auntie Mame's lessons well.

The award-winning tunes in "Mame," written by Jerry Herman, are reminiscent of lavish 1960s musicals.

Tickets are $6 for general admission; seniors, students, SIUE faculty and staff, members of Friends of Theater and Dance, and alumni, $4.50. For reservations, the SIUE theater box office may be called from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. during weekdays at 692-2774 or from St. Louis toll-free at 621-5168, ext. 2774.

missioner Joe Williams, 2573 Grand Ave., has 3rd Ward petitions.

Only two incumbent aldermen have picked up their petitions: Judy Whitaker in the 8th Ward and Ralph Astorian in the 5th Ward. This will be the first race for Astorian, who was appointed by Mayor Von Dee Cruse last spring to fill the term of Jake Varadian. Varadian moved out of the city.

Three persons have petitions in the 3rd Ward, where incumbent Brett Hanke has said he will not seek re-election. In addition to Williams, Andrew Timko, 2263 Grand Ave., and Daniel McDowell, 2237 Edison Ave., have picked up petitions.

The only other ward that has competition so far is the 4th where, in addition to Barton, Sandra Shaw, 1557 Bodewig, has petitions. Incumbent Sharon Perjak has not said whether she intends to seek re-election.

Others who have picked up petitions are:

Jim Ortiz, 2509 State St., in the 2nd Ward for the seat now held by Pat Schuman.

Pat North Gowan, 18 Miami Court, in the 7th Ward for the seat now held by Jeff Worthen.

In the citywide offices Cruse, Stevens, Treasurer Gail Valle and Assessor Darlene Laub have all picked up petitions.

This will be the first race for Valle, who was appointed by Cruse to fill the office following the death of Nick Petrillo.

"It's still early," Stevens said. "I guess most people are still concerned with the national election."

"When I picked mine up I told Bob, 'This is it; don't give them to anyone else' and he agreed," Cruse said. "That's a joke. I hope someone does run against me so I can beat the pants off him."

The other alderman whose term is ending is the 1st Ward's Casmer Skubish.

expressed interest in the building.

"There are certain things I don't want going up there," Poston said. "I'm sorry, but I've got a lot of money invested in that corner and I don't want to lose it." Poston's home is catcater from the building.

Hamm said that while anyone can buy the building, there are restrictions. "They can buy it but they will have to go through zoning to do whatever it is they want to do there," Hamm said. "And that's where you people come in. You go to the zoning hearings and decide whether it's what you want or not."

Poston further suggested a fund-raising drive but she was concerned about what would then happen to the property.

"If we had some kind of fund-raising to get money to tear it down, would the school board take on the obligation to put a walking track in?" Poston asked. "I don't want to raise money to get rid of it so the district can sell off the property."

Hamm quickly assured her that that would not happen, saying that with city cooperation a walking track might indeed be created.

"We want to first get answers to some of your questions," Hamm said. "We also want to get information from our attorney about raising money."

Kostenki and board member Bosworth were both pleased with the turnout and with the input received.

Invitation letters were sent to 170 residents within a six square-block radius, Kostenki said.

"What you have to remember is that many of these people are elderly and they don't come out at night," Bosworth said. "But the people who did show up will bring more with their two sons. If this goes, the more people will come."

Stetler and Dawdy confronted Stetler on May 8 at a woman's home in Granite City, beat him with "nun-chucks" (metal karate sticks connected by a chain), while his hands were tied by a telephone cord and threw him in a car, police alleged.

The vehicle was driven to an isolated area near Lewis Road in west St. Louis County along the Meramec River shortly after midnight, where they allegedly beat him again and then threw Stetler in the river.

An autopsy report said that Stetler had been dead when his body was thrown in the river.

Scouts to help feed hungry

More than 1,500 young people will be mobilizing for two weekends in November to help feed the hungry.

Organized by the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Scouting for Food Good Turn will involve Scouts and volunteer leaders from the southern half of Madison County and all of Bond County. They will be collecting non-perishable food.

The local appeal is part of a national good turn being conducted by the Boy Scouts of America to ease the food problem for more than 20 million Americans who are said to go hungry at some time each month, a spokesman said.

Scouts will distribute bags to individual homes in neighborhoods throughout the council area on Saturday, Nov. 12.

The following Saturday, Nov. 19, they will return to pick up bags filled with food.

Community residents are asked to watch for the blue and white Scouting For Food bag outside their door on Nov. 12.

Kamadulski sets stage

Dawn Kamadulski, Granite City, was a stage hand in the play "Tartuffe," by Moliere, performed Oct. 20-23 at Monmouth (Ill.) College.

A sophomore, she is the daughter of Donald and Tonia Kamadulski, Granite City. "Tartuffe (The Imposter)," tells the story of a glib old man who is duped by a fast-talking religious figure.

Moliere, whose proper name is Jean Baptiste Poquelin, is regarded as the greatest comic writer France has known.

Founded in 1853 by Scottish Presbyterians, Monmouth is a traditional liberal arts college with 675 students and 65 faculty.

PARKVIEW RECOGNIZED. Lyn Votoupal, District 29 PTA director, center, presented awards to Rayleen Boone, Parkview PTA vice president, right, and Christie Roth, president, left. The Parkview PTA was recognized by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers for a membership increase of 50 percent or more from the previous year. The group received similar recognition from the National PTA and was also rewarded for 100 percent faculty membership.

Illinois pupils better readers

SPRINGFIELD — Results of the first-ever required state assessment of reading in the third, sixth and eighth grades show that Illinois pupils in the third and sixth grades understand what they read better than their counterparts in the nation.

The state's eighth graders nearly equaled the national average, State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders announced.

Based on a scale score ranging from 1 to 500, the average reading score for Illinois students was 250 as compared to the national average of 230 for third graders, 240 for sixth graders, and 252 for eighth graders. The national averages were calculated by the State Board of Education using nationally normed standardized reading scores.

"The assessment data gathered by the state is another important piece of a larger picture, which focuses on the ongoing need for the state and local schools to improve and sustain the educational services and programs offered to our children."

grams offered to our children.

"Test results of the statewide reading assessment have been equated with nationally normed standardized reading scores so that we can predict how well third-, sixth- and eighth-grade students in our schools are doing, on average, in relation to their peers throughout the state and the nation," Sanders explained.

Results of the statewide reading assessment, which was required under provisions of the 1985 Education Reform Act, will be reported to the public on local school report cards by Oct. 31, the deadline for districts to publicize their school report card data.

Reading assessment scores are reported at the school, district and state level. Each school and district will receive constructive meaning (reading comprehension) scores as well as information regarding student responses on topic familiarity, reading strategies and literary experiences.

This additional information is expected to help school officials understand how these factors affect reading comprehension.

The statewide assessment seeks to determine how well Illinois students are performing in relation to the state's reading goal: "As a result of their schooling, students will be able to read, comprehend, interpret, evaluate and use written material," Sanders said.

For the convenience of the residents of Edwardsville and our patients, DR. LAY will also now be having office hours in Edwardsville.

Paradise still aplenty in French Polynesia

By Tom and Joanne O'Toole Staff affiliates

French Polynesia inspires fantasy. For proof, ask a Hollywood filmmaker. Enticing scenes in the film "South Pacific" and three versions of "Mutiny on the Bounty" beckons travelers to head the call.

Due to the distance from the United States, French Polynesia is south of the equator, halfway between South America and Australia, tourists still are small in number when compared to other island getaways in Hawaii or the Caribbean. And visitors usually arrive not knowing the true size of this idyllic place.

French Polynesia is 130 volcanic islands spread over five archipelagoes. The most well-known of these are the Society Islands (Moorea, Raiatea, Tahiti, Huahine and Bora Bora) and Tahiti, the populous administrative capital of this French territory.

A cruise is one way to sample the islands. Exploration Cruise Line's Majestic Tahiti Explorer has a seven-day cruise to these stunningly beautiful islands mapped by British explorers Wallis and Cook in the 1760s.

Tahiti, in the 30 years since tourism came to the island, has become a little spoiled, unkempt and noisy. Paradise now lies on Moorea, Raiatea, Taha'a, Huahine and Bora Bora and the Explorer's itinerary visits each of these islands.

The cruise begins and ends in Papeete, Tahiti, but there are no organized tours of the city. The Explorer sails on Saturday afternoon, crosses the Sea of the Moon and stops in Opunohu Bay, Moorea for cocktails and dinner.

The Explorer sails through the night to Raiatea. When the ship noses into the choppy Pacific Ocean, things get rough. Better have those motion sickness pills ready.

The next day, the Explorer lands on Nao Nao Motu, an islet off Raiatea. Passengers spend the morning snorkeling in the iridescent water that teems with colorful fish. Obviously, the islet is a popular spot because it is strewn with Styrofoam cups, plastic containers and empty film boxes.

After a barbecue on the beach, the Explorer circles around to the northern tip of Raiatea. A short tour of the island's town, Uturoa, follows. The ship then sails through the only open pass of the barrier reef into the lagoon of Bora Bora, located 150 miles northwest of Tahiti.

In Bora Bora's lagoon, a crater of surrounding volcanic mountains, rusting remains of two sunken ships poke through the sparkling water. The deep green peaks of Mt. Otemanu and 2,100-foot Mt. Pahia tower over the bay.

Explorer passengers stay on Bora Bora for two days, docking at Vitape, the village that inspired novelist James Michener to write "Tales of the South Pacific."

There are a number of good hotels on the beach side of Bora Bora and many offer detached, luxury bungalows on stilts above the water. Some of these bungalows are owned by celebrities like Marlon Brando and Jack Nicholson.

After an evening's entertainment in town, the ship cruises toward the island of Huahine. The ship calls at a small village that seldom sees tours and on a beach in Avea Bay, where snorkelers may meet a large octopus. Passengers sample a traditional Tahitian meal of pork chicken, vegetables and tropical fruits, cooked in an earth oven. That night, the Explorer heads back to Moorea and the island of Tahiti.

On the return visit to Moorea, passengers have more time to explore the island. Using the Bali Hai Hotel as a base, travelers can scuba dive, sightsee, take a pontoon cruise, hit the beach or take a photo safari in a jeep. Incidentally, Moorea's grand mountain, Mt. Rotui, is known to us through the song, "Bali Hai."

We came to French Polynesia to see if the dream still exists. We are here to report it does. Spoils of the 1980s have crested on the shores, but the old Polynesia survives in quiet villages, deserted beaches and an uncomplicated lifestyle.

The O'Tooles were guests of Exploration Cruise Line and Air France.

THE GRACEFUL SAGAFJORD docks in port at St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands.

Lines offer trip to islands

The 86-passenger Majestic Tahiti Explorer is very casual. Passengers take meals at long banquet tables and sit with whomever they please. The food is not gourmet, but it is very satisfying.

Cabins have plenty of storage and are small but comfortable. Each room has an air conditioner, but crank it down to 55 degrees during the day if you want to be cool. Remember, this is the tropics.

Majestic Explorer passengers must pack light. A few bathing suits, shorts, mix-and-match sports outfits, plus tennis shoes will take you through the trip. Some women preferred to sunbathe topside.

The humidity, salt water, sports and intense sun may sap your energy. Afternoons are spent seeking shade. Entertainment usually takes place during the cocktail hour. The cruise line's staff tries to help passengers experience the Polynesian culture. Talks before breakfast introduce tourists to Tahitian ways and the evenings are filled with folk entertainment.

The Explorer departs every Saturday from Papeete through-out the year. Prices start at $2,299 per person, double occupancy, for a seven-night cruise.

A three-night segment departs Papeete on Saturday morning; prices start at $999 per person, double occupancy. The four-night sailing departs every Tuesday from Bora Bora and prices begin at $1,339. Visitors on their way to New Zealand or Australia might find a partial cruise of the islands a pleasant way to break up a long trip.

Exploration Cruise Lines is owned by Busch Entertainment, an Anheuser-Busch company. In addition to the Majestic Tahiti Explorer cruises to French Polynesia, other ships in the fleet sail to Alaska's Inside Passage, Mexico, Costa Rica, Panama, on the Columbia, Snake and San Joaquin rivers, along the east coast of the United States and to the Caribbean.

Air France has service from Los Angeles to Tahiti with departures Friday afternoons throughout the year. From Los Angeles, the flight takes 7½ hours. For more information call Air France at 800-237-2747.

Those who wish a brochure detailing a Tahiti sailing aboard the Majestic Explorer should contact Exploration Cruise Lines, 1500 Metropolitan Park Building, Seattle, Wash. The telephone number is 800-426-0600.

Those who wish brochures, hotel information and literature on these French Polynesian islands should contact the Tahiti Tourist Promotion Board, Suite 110, Tola Plaza Building, 12233 West Olympic Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif. 90064. The telephone number is (213) 207-1919.

Romantic Dennis Quaid successful workaholic

By Harry Hamm
Staff affiliate

If you mention the name Dennis Quaid to most female moviegoers, be ready to endure a far-away look and a sigh, followed by a reverent moment of prolonged silence.

But Quaid is more than just a good-looking, talented leading man. He also is a workaholic.

Having appeared in 20 motion pictures in just 11 years, Quaid, 34, has earned a reputation of being not only an actor who likes to work, but also one that is willing to accept big risks.

For instance, Quaid, who also is an accomplished musician, has just gone into production of "Great Balls of Fire," a film based on the life of early rock 'n' roll legend Jerry Lee Lewis. The film likely will be released in late summer 1989.

"The man's a virtuoso," Quaid says of Lewis. "Everybody seems to understand Lewis' bad side. No one seems to understand his genius. I'm going to change that."

Quaid's latest film, "Everybody's All-American," which costars Jessica Lange, covers 30 years (1957 to 1987) in the life of a college and professional football star who must come to grips with what happens when the cheering stops and the effect that type of career has on a marriage.

"Dennis has this sunny, all-American quality about him," says Taylor Hackford, director of "Everybody's All-American." "Since his first film in 1977 (titled 'September 30, 1955') and throughout some of his pictures that have been less than successful, 'Seniors,' 'Caveman,' 'Tough Enough' he has matured as an actor and really come into his own."

"By working so incessantly, he has perfected his craft at a relatively early age and become a veteran at a point when others are still trying to find themselves. Dennis has earned the youthful experience you see on his face."

Quaid gained 30 pounds for the new film.

"I really bulked up," he said. "But even after that, I had no idea how truly brutal a game football was. I worked with pain a lot in this film, including the time I broke my collarbone in one of the scenes we shot at LSU (Louisiana State University). I just sucked it up and kept going but it felt like I was acting with a knife stuck in my shoulder."

In previous films, Quaid has appeared as a Washington lobbyist ("Suspect"), a police detective in New Orleans ("The Big Easy"), a U.S. Navy pilot who gets miniaturized and injected into the bloodstream of a man ("Innerspace"), astronaut Gordon ("Gordo") Cooper ("The Right Stuff") and a cowboy ("The Long Riders").

"You've got to be versatile," Quaid says. "Hell, if you're afraid of failing, then don't try to be an actor. Even when you're good, there's always somebody ready to tell you how you did it wrong. I just go out and do my best and try to show everybody I've a lot of sides to me."

"When I left the University of Houston (where he was drama major) and headed for Los Angeles, I was determined to make it. I didn't have too many optimistic prospects back then except for my brother, (actor) Randy, who encouraged me a lot and still does. He can do comedy much better than I can but I get all the girls. I wish people gave him as much credit as they do me."

'Feds' a flop the FBI didn't have a hand in

By Harry Hamm
Staff affiliate

In "Feds" () a not-very-humorous comedy film, Rebecca DeMornay as Ellis DeWitt and Mary Gross of "Saturday Night Live" as Janis Zuckerman play two FBI agents in training.

DeWitt has just left a stint with the Marines, so she seems to have the toughness for the job.

Zuckerman is a prim, professional student who certainly has the smarts for the work. And as luck and this screen-play would have it, the two are made roommates for the 16-week course, so each can help out the other with their shortcomings during the rigorous schooling.

If you have seen "No Way Out" or "Marie: A True Story," you will recognize Fred D. Thompson, the law professor's gift to acting.

In "Feds," Thompson plays Bill Bilecki, the director of training for the FBI. In real life, Thompson is a prominent attorney who started his law career as an assistant U.S. attorney in Tennessee and was appointed as a special government assistant during the Watergate hearings in 1973-74.

Thompson, playing the role of training director for the FBI, is one of the few really convincing actors in this movie, although his part is merely window dressing for a movie that was supposed to have a lot more inside. From the very beginning,

"Feds" does not set a definitive course as a comedy or even a good-natured, female buddy film.

The on-screen chemistry between DeMornay and Gross is monotonous and helps neutralize the entire project.

The attempts by screenwriters Len Blum and Dan Goldberg to inject elements of tension concerning whether the two ladies will flunk out of the training or be successful in their attempt to foil a bank robbery are about as suspenseful as last weekend's football scores.

"Feds" also happens to be Goldberg's first assignment as a director and the movie's lack of entertaining momentum or simple likability are signs of Goldberg's lack of experience.

The executive producer of "Feds" is Ivan Reitman, whose success with films like "Meatballs," "Stripes" and "Ghostbusters" is nowhere near being sustained in "Feds."

"Feds" was shot at 24 different locations, none of which were on the grounds of the real FBI Academy in Quantico, Va. It seems the FBI wanted nothing to do with this film. In fact, at the end of the movie, a disclaimer is scrolled on the screen that says the FBI did not cooperate in producing, or condone or authorize any part of the movie.

For once, I agree with the U.S. government. Rated PG-13 (language and mild violence). Running time: 85 minutes.

Zevon will mellow out at 'Nights'

By Alan Sculley
Staff affiliate

When Warren Zevon comes to Mississippi Nights on Friday, Nov. 11, fans of this singer-songwriter can expect a different show than they might expect.

Zevon, known for a primarily hard-rocking electric sound on his albums, will perform an all-acoustic set. That in itself is not news, as he has done solo acoustic shows before.

But he will be accompanied at the "Nights" by some notable sidemen, bassist Timothy B. Schmit (formerly of Poco and the Eagles) and multi-instrumentalist Dan Dugmore (who has toured with Linda Ronstadt and James Taylor).

The show will feature revamped versions of old songs, new tunes from an upcoming LP called "Transverse City" and versions of country blues songs by such artists as Robert Johnson, Johnny Cash and Bukka White.

In an interview last week, Zevon said the tour serves several purposes. For one, it gives him a needed break from recording. Zevon said he also enjoys writing songs while traveling by bus on tour. He has six songs completed for the new album, which he described as high-tech and futuristic, and wants to write other songs for the LP.

"So I thought maybe it (the tour) was an opportunity to get out on the road, to write and to do something musically that was kind of a reaction against what I'd been working on," Zevon said.

"Another consideration in this deal is that when I was recording the last album ("Sentimental Hygiene") with the guys from R.E.M., we recorded a bunch of country blues type songs and covers," Zevon said.

Zevon, 41, has been recording as a solo artist for 12 years. His 1976 debut album, "Warren Zevon," immediately earned him a strong reputation with critics as a songwriter-singer. His second album, "Excitable Boy," solidified his standing. Two tracks from that LP—"Excitable Boy" and "Werewolves of London"—remain among his best-known songs.

Zevon said the new album is not a radical departure musically.

"The subject matter of the album is somewhat different for me. It's really not so much about me. You know, I've reached the point where I feel pretty good, said Zevon, who has had major bouts with alcohol. "If in fact as people used to suggest, and I used to deny, there was a lot of exorcising the demon in some of my earlier songs, there may be a little less of that and a little more about some of the demonic aspects of our society."

Zevon long has been known for using extreme characters in his songs, and though he said his songs often have a thread of personal meaning, they are not really autobiographical.

Zevon, never a run-of-the-mill songwriter, dared to be different.

"I'm very happy," he said. "I make a living. I get to play. I get to record pretty much the way I want to, what I want to, how I want to and tour the same way."

Scary 'Child's Play' anything but its title

By Frank Hunter
Staff affiliate

In "Child's Play" (), 6-year-old Andy Barclay adores his new blue-eyed, apple-cheeked talking doll, "Chucky."

At first, Andy would gladly cut off his favorite sucking thumb if that's all Chucky really was.

Andy Barclay (Alex Vincent) and his widowed mom Karen (Catherine Hicks) live in an old six-floor Chicago apartment building and when mom is at work, Karen's friend Maggie (Dinah Manoff) babysits the boy.

Like many tots, Andy watches too many television cartoons. His birthday is coming up and Andy yearns for a heavily hyped Good Guy Talking Doll "that will be your friend for life" which mom buys on the cheap from a strange street peddler carrying the thing in a slightly battered box.

Pretty soon unpleasant things start happening around the apartment, like the babysitter's abrupt and dramatic demise. Then the real carnage commences.

Apparently Chucky the doll is possessed by the demonic, vengeful spirit of a mass murderer. The psychopath, Charles Lee Ray (Brad Dourif), was deep into voodoo rites before he perished in a toy store explosion, but managed to transfer his tortured soul into the Good Guy dolly via some incantations.

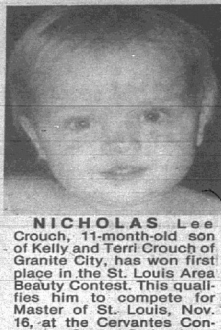

In Chucky's cute little body, killer Ray starts stalking real and imagined enemies including detective Chris Sarandon, in on the toy store stakeout and loath to believe Andy's childish babblings about Chucky being far from a good guy.

There are several scary bits involving guns, knives, a gas-fired hearth for burning up things, a harrowing attempt on the life of the doubling detective, and a nifty new use for electro-shock therapy that does not recommend this psychiatric tool.

"Child's Play" is by no means great art, but there is enough tension to drive the nail-biters nuts. Just be sure to steer little kids away from this one.

PLAYING A DISABLED MAN stalked by a diabolical killer, Chris Sarandon, left, loads his gun to protect a son and mother (Alex Vincent and Catherine Hicks) in "Child's Play."

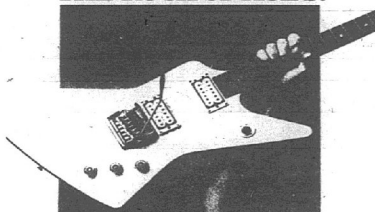

NICHOLAS Lee Crouch, 11-month-old son of Kelly and Terri Crouch of Granite City, has won first place in the St. Louis Area Beauty Contest. This qualifies him to compete for Master of St. Louis, Nov. 16, at the Cervantes Convention Center, St. Louis.

Doctor credits WIC program with helping lower anemia

By Janice Denham
Food editor

A specialist in infant nutrition recently credited the WIC, Women, Infant and Children program, for having been a prime force in reducing the number of babies who have iron deficiencies.

Dr. Samuel J. Fomon, professor of pediatrics at the University of Iowa and author of the widely used textbook "Infant Nutrition," told medical professionals about the status of iron at Washington University School of Medicine. The visit was co-sponsored by the Dairy Council.

Helmi Mason, supervisor for the St. Louis County WIC program, explained what WIC does. "WIC is not a food supplemental program primarily, but is meant to be an educational program and a food supplemental program goes with it. Everybody who comes and gets certified to be a participant is also required to get some nutrition education. This is done through conducting classes or one-to-one counseling." Pregnant and nursing mothers, infants and young children with medical problems, primarily with anemia, substandard height or weight, can be certified by public or private medical services. Those approved must fall within low-income levels based on the number of people in the household.

Most of WIC's funds come from the federal government, although individual states also are responsible and add specific requirements.

New England trout cakes showcase cuisine

New England cuisine is becoming one of America's latest food trends. With a rich culinary heritage dating back to this nation's first settlers, this region is the home of such favorites as chowder, maple syrup, cranberry sauce and fish cakes.

Borrowing from the original, this recipe for New England-Style Trout Cakes features the delicate flavor of rainbow trout for a new, light twist on an old classic.

Succulent morsels of poached trout filets combine with bread crumbs, tender-crisp celery and onion. Reduced-calorie mayonnaise is added for extra moistness. Form the mixture into patties, then saute until crisp and golden brown. Accompany with a creamy dill sauce for a winning finishing touch.

For a festive autumn buffet, serve New England-Style Trout Cakes with a mixed green salad. For more rainbow trout recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Fall Trout Recipes, c/o SY&T, 460 Boulevard Way, Oakland, Calif. 94610.

New England-style trout cakes

- 1/4 cup plus 3 tbsp. reduced-calorie mayonnaise
- 1 tbsp. fresh lime juice
- 1 tsp. fresh dill weed or 1/2 tsp. dried dill
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 4 rainbow trout filets (4 oz. each)
- 2 tbsp. finely chopped celery
- 2 tbsp. finely chopped green onion
- 2 tsp. finely chopped bell pepper
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- Salt and pepper

2 tsp. butter

Combine 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, lime juice, dill, salt and cayenne in bowl. Cover. Refrigerate. Fill large skillet with water. Bring to simmer. Reduce heat. Poach trout filets in gently simmering water about 5 minutes, or until fish flakes with fork. Remove skin from trout. Flake meat in bowl. Add 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, celery, onion, bell pepper, egg and mustard. Season with salt and pepper. Shape mixture into cakes.

Dredge in reserved bread crumbs. Melt butter over medium heat in skillet. Saute trout cakes 3 to 5 minutes, or until golden brown and heated through. Serve immediately with sauce. Makes 4 servings, about 321 calories each.

WIC program aids in fight against anemia

By Janice Denham
Food editor

Dr. Samuel J. Fomon, whose book "Infant Nutrition" is a common text for pediatricians, recently told medical personnel at Washington University in St. Louis that the United States is winning its war against iron deficiency in infants.

"The situation is quite a bit better than it was 10 years ago," he said. "If we could get all children to 12 months of age in good iron nutritional status, we wouldn't have that much problem keeping them there past this age period. They don't become anemic between 12 and 36 months of age. They are anemic when they enter this age."

A major aid in decreasing anemia has been the WIC program, a federal program which tries to teach better nutrition for women, infants and children. Hence, the name WIC, with food supplements for infants, undernourished children, pregnant and nursing mothers.

An iron deficiency keeps humans from performing well mentally because oxygen is not carried efficiently through the body, thus making the heart work harder. It also can affect the immune function of the body.

Fomon, professor of pediatrics at the University of Iowa, was a visiting professor in nutrition, sponsored by Washington University School of Medicine and Dairy Council. He soon will be taking time to re-write his textbook, which was published in 1974.

He recommends that pediatricians follow patients' feeding methods closely to ensure enough iron in infants.

"Every baby who is not breast fed should receive an iron-fortified formula, which is what most of the formulas in the U.S. are today," he said.

He gave figures that show close to 80 percent of all formulas marketed here are iron-fortified, which is twice the amount of 25 years ago. This also contrasts with only 5 percent that are fortified in nearby Toronto.

Fomon recommends waiting to introduce cow's milk to an infant until he reaches the age of 1 year. Even though the milk will be a child's major calorie source, cow's milk is a bad source of iron and probably inhibits absorption of iron from other sources. He hopes to study the interference factor more thoroughly in the near future.

Babies fed cow's milk lose appreciable amounts of iron in their feces. The biggest loss of iron occurs when the baby first goes off an iron-rich formula. He feels that breast-fed infants should receive extra iron in liquid drops to make sure they get enough. Animal studies show that a mother must be extremely low in iron before it makes a difference in the iron status of her newborn. A child must average 6 milligram of absorbed iron per day over the first year to achieve his optimum level.

One of the major sources of iron pediatricians have advised for babies is iron-enriched cereals. However, Fomon told the infant specialists, "No one has demonstrated that the iron used in cereals is bio-available," adding that the proof of its absorption "is one of the hardest studies that one would imagine."

He added that cereal-fruit combinations are better utilized. Fruits high in vitamin C are recommended as good partners with iron-rich foods because they aid iron absorption.

But Dr. Guy Johnson, director of nutrition for Gerber Products, later said Fomon's interpretation of studies concerning the effectiveness of cereals fortified with iron does not reflect a consensus among experts that is supported by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Johnson said studies throughout the years involving animals, test-tube applications and adults have failed to disprove the usefulness of iron in the cereals.

He pointed to a recent study by the University of Illinois in which babies who were given iron in baby cereal or in iron-enriched formula were compared at three-month intervals from age 3 months to 1 year. He said there was no difference in the groups. A large clinical study now is being done in Chile to determine whether these findings can be confirmed in a country with a far greater amount of anemia, he said.

"Electrolytic iron, very, very fine pieces of elemental iron, are added to the cereal at a reasonably high concentration because babies are very dependent on a source of iron very early," Johnson said.

Ferrous sulfate is the "gold standard" of iron additives because it is so easily absorbed in the human system, he said.

Heartland is where the recipes' home is America is witnessing an upsurge of interest in traditional American recipes associated with the country's heartland, the Midwest. Some call it comfort food, farm food or just real food. Whatever it is called, it is being gobbled up by a grateful public.

It is a style of cooking geared to family life, delicious and wholesome. It is like a date with Grandmother's cooking on Sunday after church. Nostalgia plays a large part in food preferences. This trend represents part of America's pent-up longing for the tastes and foods stored in memories.

Midwestern cuisine is based on the bounty of its farmlands, rivers and lakes — fish, pork, beef, corn products, grains, vegetables and fruits like apples, pears, cherries and berries. It is food that tastes like itself.

These recipes illustrate this straightforward approach to cooking. German-Style Brisket combines fresh carrots, parsnips and potatoes with beef brisket slowly cooked until tender. French onion soup, pepper, cloves and crushed gingersnaps provide an exciting, flavorful sauce.

Cheddar, Swiss and parmesan are the cheeses featured in Three-Cheese Souffle. Cheese soup and egg whites ensure fluffy, high results every time.

Cabbage Beef Soup, served with a dollop of sour cream, a tossed salad and crusty fresh bread, makes a delicious main dish for a crisp cool night. Beets, potatoes, cabbage and beef — shine in a tangy base of beef broth and burgundy wine, seasoned with thyme, lemon juice and brown sugar.

German-style brisket

2 tbs. oil
3 1/2 to 4 lb. beef brisket
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) French onion soup
1/2 cup vinegar
2 medium bay leaves
1/2 tsp. pepper
Pinch cloves
6 small potatoes, cut in chunks
3 medium carrots, cut in chunks
3 medium parsnips, cut in 1/2 inch strips
1/2 cup finely crushed gingersnaps

In 6-quart Dutch oven over medium-high heat, in hot oil brown roast on all sides. Spoon off fat.

Stir in soup, vinegar, bay leaves, pepper and cloves. Reduce heat to low. Cover. Simmer 2 hours. Add potatoes. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes.

Add carrots and parsnips. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes or until roast and vegetables are fork-tender.

Remove roast and vegetables to serving platter. Remove bay leaves. Skim fat from liquid in Dutch oven. Stir in gingersnaps, stirring until desired consistency.

Serve gravy over roast and vegetables.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Cabbage beef soup

2 tbs. oil
1 lb. beef cubes, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
1/2 cup burgundy or other dry red wine
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) beef broth
1 soup can water
2 tbs. tomato paste
1 cup diced beets
1 medium potato, diced
2 cups shredded cabbage
2 tbs. brown sugar
1 tbs. lemon juice

Pinch thyme leaves, crushed
Dairy sour cream for garnish

In 3-quart saucepan over medium-high heat, in hot oil cook beef, a few pieces at a time, until browned on all sides. Spoon off fat.

Return beef to pan. Add wine. Stir to loosen browned bits.

Add broth, water, tomato paste, beets and potatoes. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Cover. Simmer 1 hour.

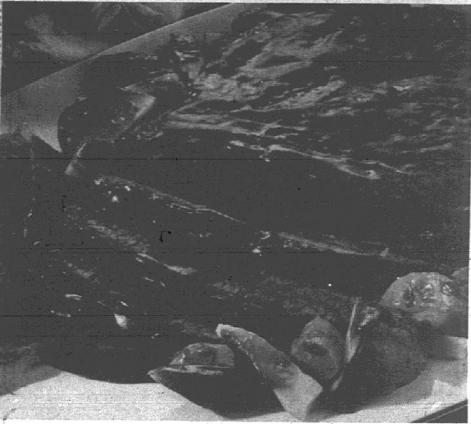

Stir in cabbage, brown sugar, lemon juice and thyme. Cover.

Simmer 25 minutes or until meat and vegetables are tender.

Ladle into soup bowls. Garnish with sour cream.

Makes 5 1/2 cups or 4 servings. 375 calories and 889 mg. sodium each.

"Where Ma Saves Pa's Dough"

Color, taste, texture earn universal flavor friends

ARTFUL COOKING travels from one country to another with Oriental technique and universal appeal.

The Chinese were the first to make an art of cooking, and their cuisine still exemplifies how to cook quickly but gently so that food retains its natural flavors.

They combine tastes and textures and use contrast in the selection of ingredients. With all this, many Chinese recipes are delightfully simple so that the reward is an elegant dish with relatively little effort. Most of the work involved is in the preparation, usually dicing, slicing, dicing and dicing. Once that is finished, the cooking is easy. For that reason, Chinese dishes cooked in a wok or simple skillet are wonderful company fare.

Chicken Orientale marinated sliced breast of chicken in a delectable tomato sauce, pungent with ginger and garlic, musky with soy sauce and highlighted with grapefruit juice. Shredded green cabbage, mushrooms, red pepper and bamboo shoots cook in minutes just until tender-crisp while succulent grapefruit sections can lend a welcome contrast, if the fruit itself is desired. Served over hot rice, it is a dish fit for an emperor's son.

Chicken Orientale

- 1 cup grapefruit juice
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tbs. soy sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. ginger
- 1 1/2 lb. boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut in thin strips
- 3 tbs. cornstarch
- 1/2 cup oil
- 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 cup shredded green cabbage
- 1 red pepper, cored, seeded, cut in 2-by-1/2 inch strips
- 2 cups fresh Chinese pea pods or 1 pkg. (6 oz.) frozen pea pods, thawed
- 1 can (8 oz.) sliced bamboo shoots, drained
- 2 grapefruit, peeled, sectioned (optional)
- Hot cooked rice
- Scallions for garnish (optional)

In large bowl, mix grapefruit juice, tomato sauce, vinegar, sugar, soy sauce, garlic and ginger. Add chicken breasts. Cover. Marinate 1 hour at room temperature. Drain chicken thoroughly.

Reserve marinade.

Mix cornstarch with 1/4 cup reserved marinade. Set aside.

In large skillet or wok, heat 2 tablespoons oil over high heat. Stir-fry chicken 1 to 2 minutes until chicken loses its pink color. Remove from skillet. Wipe skillet clean.

Add remaining 2 tablespoons oil. Stir-fry mushrooms, cabbage, red pepper and pea pods 1 to 2 minutes or until tender-crisp.

Return chicken to skillet. Add bamboo shoots and remaining marinade. Stir in cornstarch mixture. Bring to boil. Cook 1 minute longer.

Add grapefruit sections. Heat gently.

Serve over hot rice. Garnish with scallions.

Yields 6 servings.

Odd couple stir-fry

- 1 tbs. cornstarch
 - 3 tbs. soy sauce
 - 3 tbs. oil
 - 1/2 tsp. ginger
 - 1 lb. boneless pork loin, cut in very thin strips
 - 1 tbs. sea scallops, cut in thin slices
 - 1 cup green onions or scallions, cut in 1 inch pieces
 - 2 grapefruit, peeled, sectioned (optional)
 - Hot cooked rice
 - Green pepper strips (optional)
- In small bowl, combine grapefruit juice, soy sauce, 1 tablespoon oil and ginger. Add pork strips. Cover. Let marinate 1 hour at room temperature.

Combine marinade and cornstarch. Set aside.

In large skillet or wok, heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil over high heat. Add pork. Stir-fry 2 to 3 minutes until browned.

Add scallops. Continue stirring another 2 minutes. Add reserved marinade mixture and green onions. Continue stirring until sauce boils and thickens.

Gently stir in grapefruit sections.

Serve over hot rice. Garnish with strips of green pepper.

Yields 6 servings.

MPV makes entrance into Mazda's fleet

Offering room for up to seven passengers, the Mazda MPV is a newly introduced multipurpose vehicle combining style, comfort and versatility.

The MPV comes in two versions: a passenger version with seating for five or seven passengers, and a cargo version.

Buyers have a choice of two engines, and a wide range of options that make it possible for them to tailor the MPV to their needs. A four-wheel-drive model will be added later.

The distinctive look of the MPV is the result of careful aerodynamic design, which yields a coefficient of drag of only 0.36. The sleek shape also contributes to the MPV's stability and low wind noise at highway speeds.

Rigidity, another feature of the MPV body, has been achieved through Mazda's Dynamic Modal Analysis and extensive computer simulation. The gives the vehicle a solid, stable feel, quiet interior and impressive ride comfort and handling.

The standard engine is an all-new 2.6-liter, 12-valve in-line cylinder with electronic fuel-injection and twin camshaft rotating balance shafts developed specifically for use in the MPV. A single overhead camshaft operates the two intake and one exhaust valve per cylinder via quiet and maintenance-free hydraulic valve lash adjusters.

The engine produces 121 horsepower at 4600 rpm and 149 foot-pounds of torque at 3500 rpm. Fuel economy ratings for this engine are 20 mpg city and 24 mpg highway with the five-speed manual transmission; and 19 mpg city and 24 mpg highway with the optional four-speed overdrive automatic transmission.

Optional on the 2.6-liter four-cylinder models is a hydraulic controlled four-speed automatic transmission. This transmission features an overdrive fourth gear and a lockup torque converter for improved fuel economy and reduced engine noise and wear.

An electronically controlled four-speed overdrive automatic transmission is available with the V6. The electronic control permits smoother shifts and higher torque converter engagement.

In designing the suspension of the MPV, the engineers at Mazda sought to provide a balance of taut handling, comfortable ride and load-carrying capability. The MPV, which features a rear-wheel-drive layout, has a towing capacity of 2,300 pounds with the standard engine and 3,000 pounds with the V6. With the optional towing package, the towing capacity of the V6-equipped MPV increases to 4,300 pounds.

Engine-speed sensing, variable-assist power steering is standard on the MPV, providing maximum assist at low speeds and a steady, solid feel at highway speeds.

The brakes are front ventilated disc and rear drum. A dual hydraulic circuit with a load-proportioning valve maintains braking balance under various load conditions.

The MPV has a flat floor with a raised luggage/cargo platform in the main passenger compartment. The seven-passenger arrangement offers three rows of seats in a 2+2+3 configuration. For access to the rear of the MPV from the front seats, a wide-walk-through area has been provided.

Even in the seven-passenger configuration there is ample cargo room. This cargo area may be expanded by folding the third seat forward against the back of the second seat. In addition, the rear seats can be folded down to form a large flat surface for sleeping or carrying bulky cargo.

Access to the rear-passenger/cargo area is through a hinged side door that opens to nearly 90 degrees and a top-hinged tailgate that opens at bumper level for easy loading of heavy objects.

For the driver, the MPV offers excellent visibility and comfort in addition to proper ergonomics. The instruments and controls are located within easy reach of the driver. Numerous storage compartments are located throughout the interior.

Modern aerodynamics ushers in new era for Ford Thunderbird

An all-new design for Ford Thunderbird, which led the way for Ford's "aero look" in 1983, ushers in a new era of aerodynamic tradition with brand-new flair.

The sleek 1989 Thunderbird is new from the ground up, said Thomas J. Wagner, Ford vice president and division general manager. Together with the high-performance Taurus SHO, it highlights this year's car lineup from Ford.

Thunderbird's aerodynamic new shape produces an air-drag coefficient of 0.34 for Standard and LX models, and 0.35 for the Super Coupe. More than 700 miles wind-tunnel testing also contributed to reduced passenger-compartment wind noise and improved stability and handling in curves.

Thunderbird's new platform gives the car a longer, wider stance. The wheelbase is 9.9 inches longer than the 1988 model, and the front and rear track widths have been increased 3.3 and 1.7 inches respectively, for improved ride and handling.

A new, four-wheel, fully independent suspension system further enhances Thunderbird's ride-and-handling characteristics.

Inside, every front- and rear-seat space measurement has been increased. Most notably, rear-seat hip and shoulder room have been increased by 7.1 and 1.6 inches, respectively, making the back seat more comfortable for three passengers. Overall, Thunderbird's EPA Passenger Volume Index has been increased by 9.5 cubic feet over last year's model.

The rear-wheel-drive Thunderbird's Standard and LX models include a 3.8-liter V6 engine with sequential electronic fuel injection, a four-speed automatic overdrive transmission, air conditioning, tinted glass, a long spindle short- and long-arm front steering (speed-sensitive on LX), independent rear suspension for better ride and handling; power rack-and-pinion steering (speed-sensitive on LX and Super Coupe); interval windshield wipers; motorized shoulder belts with manual lap/shoulder belts for rear outboard passengers, and a lap belt for the center passenger.

Thunderbird LX features include an electronic instrument cluster, AM/FM stereo radio with cassette player, speed control, tilt steering wheel, six-way power driver's seat and Power Lock Group.

Thunderbird Super Coupe is powered by a 215-horsepower, supercharged 3.9-liter V6 engine with intercooler, electronic fuel injection and dual exhaust. Also standard are a five-speed manual transmission, an antilock braking system with four-wheel disc brakes, a handling suspension with automatic ride control, a Traction Lok rear axle, 16-inch cast aluminum wheels, performance suspension, a performance analog instrument cluster, and articulated sport seats. An automatic overdrive transmission also is available.

Special front-and-rear fascia and side cladding give the Super Coupe a striking overall appearance.

Thunderbird options include the Ford JBL Sound System, a digital disc player, antilock brake system and power moonroof.

Toyota blends performance with luxury in new Cressida

The Toyota Cressida takes on a new look inside and out for 1989, while adding increased performance and comfort.

This luxury sports sedan boasts a heritage of recognized reliability. Two years running, J.D. Power & Associates named Cressida the most trouble-free car in America.

Derived from the Supra engine, the electronically fuel-injected 3.0-liter 24-valve twin-cam, 24-valve replaces last year's 2.8-liter, 12-valve twin-cam.

Derived from the Supra engine, the electronically fuel-injected 3.0-liter 24-valve twin-cam, 24-valve replaces last year's 2.8-liter, 12-valve twin-cam. Cressida's big news for '89 is under the hood. Toyota's 3.0-liter, six-cylinder twin-cam, 24-valve replaces last year's 2.8-liter, 12-valve twin-cam.

Complementing this added power is a newly designed suspension featuring MacPherson struts in the front and double wishbones at the rear. The independent rear suspension, similar to Supra's, is attached to a body by a subframe for a smoother, quieter ride. Ride further enhanced by reinforcement of all pillar joints.

Inside, new features include a tilt and telescopic steering wheel, upgraded automatic air conditioning and a six-speaker audio system.

Cressida's exterior also is all new for '89. The car is wider, lower, longer and more aerodynamic. New or improved exterior equipment includes fully concealed wipers, power moonroof with tilt function and redesigned side moldings.

There are six new exterior colors: Platinum Silver Metallic, Medium Slate Metallic, Pewter Pearl, Taupe Pearl, Ice Blue Metallic and White Pearl.

The only Cressida transmission is the four-speed automatic overdrive with electronic control and shift-lever mounted over-drive lock-out.

Transmission and engine control computers are integrated, permitting unusually refined, smooth upshifts, reduced rear end "squat" and improved engine braking on downshifts.

The car remains rear drive. Cressida also features a shift-lock device. This new feature, designed to avoid possible mis-shifts, prevents the transmission from being shifted out of park unless the ignition switch is on and the brake pedal is depressed.

UE helping seniors energize

Union Electric Co. is again making weatherization kits materials available for installation in senior citizens' homes in the company's East St. Louis service area.

Last year, with the cooperation of the Urban League of East St. Louis, some 325 kits were distributed in the service area and materials were installed in low-income elderly residents' homes. The Urban League will participate again this year.

The company is particularly interested in identifying volunteers, both groups and individuals, who can contribute their services by installing the materials. Two people can complete an installation in about two hours.

When installed, a kit can weatherize an average four-to-five-room house. Kits contain plastic window insulation, rope caulking, insulators for electrical outlets and other weatherization materials. Each kit is estimated to reduce annual energy costs by at least 30.

Materials can be removed and then reused for many years thus insuring energy savings over an extended period.

Hundreds of organizations and individuals in UE's service area, including the Urban League, have installed kits materials in the past two years.

To volunteer for kit distribution and installation, or to receive a free kit, residents should call the Urban League office at 274-1150.

Groups that could install the materials are non-profit organizations such as churches, youth groups, civic organizations and social service agencies. Individuals are invited to identify potential recipients and arrange for installation.

Weatherization kits is one of Union Electric's Energy Plus programs, a group of special community services the company sponsors to address individual needs and to respond to the company's shared responsibility for the customers and communities it serves.

You wouldn't make fun of cancer, would you?

Or heart disease. Or diabetes. Or cerebral palsy. But every day we unknowingly make fun of the single, most prevalent disease in America. A disease more prevalent than cancer, heart and lung disease combined. That disease is mental illness, a distressing medical disease that afflicts over 35 million Americans.

But the stigma of mental illness keeps most of those afflicted from seeking help. Which is tragic. Because today, there's more hope than ever before. In the past few years, medical science has unraveled many of the intricacies of mental illness and discovered new drugs and better therapies to treat it.

In fact, today, 2 out of 3 people who get help go on to resume productive lives. For an informative booklet about mental illness, contact the American Mental Health Fund.

Bison end Warriors' dream with two second-half goals

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

HOFFMAN ESTATES — May be the change of scenery was too much to handle.

The Warriors seemed to have the magic touch at Palatine Fremd High School. After all, they won the state tournament there last year on Herb Heaton's sudden-death overtime goal. And Matt Cook provided more last-second heroics in Friday's quarterfinal of the 1988 IHSA soccer tournament.

But wet field conditions forced Saturday morning's semifinal games to be moved to Conant High School in Hoffman Estates. The Granite City magic wore off just enough for Buffalo Grove to escape with a 2-1 victory and eliminate the Warriors from the tournament.

Because of the dreary weather, it was decided Saturday morning that no third-place game would be played Saturday evening. So Granite City, which finished at 12-4 on the field and 12-13 overall, finished tied for third with Moline (20-2-1).

"We used the strike as something to rally around rather than as an excuse this year," said Gene Baker. "I'm not sure the kids for what they accomplished. But Buffalo Grove was just an outstanding team. They were very well-coached and had an extremely high work rate. I hope they win it all."

Baker got his wish Saturday night when the Bison won the state title with a 3-0 win over Naperville Central. They got two second-half goals to overcome Scott Stone's second-quarter goal in the semifinals. Junior forward Mike Byrne scored on a header from point-blank range at 86:41 of the fourth quarter to end the Warriors' hopes of defending their state title.

"We don't mark up man-to-man in these situations. So I can't say any one player missed an assignment," said Baker. "But the noise and the pressure might have got to us a little."

It was Byrne's only goal of the tournament, but he was a constant threat in all the games.

"He only has about 10 goals this year (actually, 13), which is kind of surprising," said Baker. "But he is really a worker. We knew what he could do."

After rain and muddy fields had been the order of the day Friday, plunging temperatures took the spotlight on Saturday. It was decided late Friday night to move the semifinal games to Fremd because the field at Fremd was in terrible shape after heavy rains Friday morning. The first two quarterfinal games were played at Fremd, but Friday night's second two quarterfinals were moved to Palatine High School.

"We were fortunate to play the first game each day," said Buffalo Grove coach John Erfort. "We played on the fields when they were in as good a shape as you could expect."

It was cold (35 degrees), damp and dreary Saturday morning — a perfect description of the Warriors' mood as time ran out on them. In the end, they were looking back at missed scoring opportunities in the third quarter.

Stone, in particular, was sent in on Bison goalkeeper Mike Nagy just two minutes after Barry Trelliving had tied the game. Skip Birdsong's pass from the right wing put Stone in the clear. But Nagy dove out to cut down Stone's angle and the shot went wide to the left.

"We could have led it in the third quarter," said Baker. "We had lots of chances."

The Bison carried the play for the most part in the first half, but the Warriors got the only

Buffalo Grove stampedes to first state championship

PALATINE — The natives seemed happier this year than last. Buffalo Grove blanked Naperville Central 3-0 on Saturday to win the 1988 Illinois state soccer title. It was the first triumph for a Chicago-area team since Palatine Fremd won it all in 1984.

The tournament had been dominated by southern Illinois in general and Granite City in particular since it had begun in 1972. The Warriors have won eight state titles, Collinsville has won two and Quincy Notre Dame one.

But an all-Chicago final was assured Saturday morning when Buffalo Grove knocked off defending champion Granite City and Naperville Central topped Moline 2-1. Those games were played at Conant High School in Hoffman Estates because of muddy field conditions at Palatine Fremd.

Back at Fremd on Saturday night, the Bison got two goals from senior Barry Trelliving and one from Mike Johnston to win their first-ever state title.

"This team had the right mental approach all year," said Buffalo Grove coach John Erfort, who finished his 13th season by evening his career record at 114-114-1. "We stayed healthy all year and worked hard. Doing well wasn't just winning our regional. This makes all the practice in 105-degree heat worth it. Don't pinch me yet. I don't want to wake up if it's a dream."

The Bison had made the state finals in 1978, but lost in the quarterfinals. But they rolled this year. They knocked off Glenbrook North, the state's No. 1 team, 3-0 in Friday's first quarterfinal. After the win over Granite City, Buffalo Grove got a penalty kick goal from Trelliving in the first quarter of the championship game.

Mike Johnston scored in the third quarter before Trelliving finished the scoring with his 20th of the season. The Bison finished at 24-2-1, while Naperville Central finished at 20-6-2. The Redskins got two goals from Jim Davidson to knock off Moline (20-2-1) in Saturday morning's second semifinal.

NOTES: Warrior coach Gene Baker admitted the style of play and officiating is a little different than what his players are accustomed to, but stopped short of blaming the defeat on that.

"Things are interpreted differently," he said. "I'm not saying there's anything crooked about it. But we teach the kids to go straight up on head balls where as some up here will lean in on them and nothing is called. And we give them one meter back for throwing, while players up here are practically going out on the street (to wind up for throws)."

Let it be

It seems fitting for Warriors to settle for third-place tie

Let it be.
J.P.M. & J.W.L. (1988)

PALATINE—In this the year of the teachers strike, it seemed somehow fitting that the Warrior soccer team didn't get to play its final game.

Of course, they were hoping the final game would be for the state championship. They didn't get to play in that one, either. But even after losing in the semifinals, teams have expected to get one more chance to finish the season on a winning note in the third place game.

But this weekend's weather in Chicago didn't seem to fit for any more than was necessary. It was stormy Friday morning; muggy and overcast Friday afternoon and evening; cold, wet and windy Saturday morning; and, finally, snowy late Saturday night.

It was decided early Saturday that no third place game would be played. So the Warriors ended the season tied with Moline for third place in the state. Never having lost in the semifinals in any of the previous 11 trips to state, the Warriors have never played in a third place game. They still haven't.

"I am normally an advocate of the third place game," said Warrior coach Gene Baker after Saturday morning's 2-1 semifinal loss to eventual state champ Buffalo Grove. "But it's probably just as well this time. The big thing is the time factor. It would be awfully hard to get the boys up to play tonight."

Warrior players Chris Ryan, Dan Terrell and Bobby Cheung were ambivalent about missing out on one final chance to play. They all agreed it was kind of a weird way to determine third place. A coin flip determined

Sports Comment

By Dave Whaley

which team took home the third place trophy. One team got the third place trophy and the fourth place medals, while the other received the fourth place trophy and third place medals. Identical medals will be sent from the IHSA later.

"It would be nice to go back out and at least get a chance to win our last game," said Ryan. "I'd like to play because I probably would have gotten a chance to play a lot," said Terrell.

There is good and bad. The consolation game does give one team a chance to finish with a win after a heartbreaking loss in the semifinals. And, as Terrell noted, some of a team's lesser lights might get a chance to play more than usual in the spotlight of the state tournament.

But the team that loses the game can really go out with a bad feeling—two losses in one day after starting the day with championship aspirations. And, as Baker noted, it's tough to get a team ready to play another game only hours after its most disappointing loss of the season.

It happened once before. There was no consolation game in 1985 in the mud of Darien (Hinsdale South). Glenbrook North and Hoffman Estates settled for a third-place tie before Quincy Notre Dame beat Collinsville 2-1 for the state title.

Cook's goal at :02 provides a memory

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

PALATINE — When the disappointment of Saturday's semi-final loss wears off, the Warrior soccer team should be able to store away one thrilling, happy memory from this year's state tournament.

It happened Friday around 4:30 p.m. As the overcast afternoon was turning to dusk, things certainly looked dark for the Warriors. They were tied 1-1 with St. Charles in a quarterfinal match. But the Fighting Saints were on the attack.

Warrior senior Jim Hawkins picked up his second yellow card of the game with 98 seconds left. Because it was his second card, Hawkins had to leave the game and Granite City was allowed no substitute.

St. Charles had a corner kick and a man advantage. The best the Warriors could hope for was to hold off the Saints for the last minute and take their chances in overtime. Matt Cook sure wasn't thinking of anything more.

"We just wanted to get the ball out of our end and get to overtime," said Cook, who was playing right wingback at the time.

They got the ball out of our end, all right, but they never made it to overtime. Chris Nolan blocked a shot that bounced out to Scott Stone near midfield. The lightning-quick Stone had several chances to break away earlier in the game, but had deferred to the muddy field.

This time there was nothing to lose. He raced down the left side hounded by St. Charles all-sister Ryan Lakin. Stone raced to the left corner, stopped and centered the ball in the direction of Dan Weathers. The ball missed Weathers, but it didn't miss Cook — and Cook certainly didn't miss the ball.

Trailing the play down right wing, Cook met the ball in full stride and blasted a shot under the crossbar with two seconds showing on the clock to give the Warriors a 2-1 win.

"Stoner" did all the work," said Cook, a junior who is known for his three-point shots in basketball. "Danny was there first, but the ball got by him and came right to me. I had a chance like that earlier in the year and missed. I just used good inside-the-foot technique."

St. Charles lay on the field in stunned silence for several minutes while the Warriors piled on Cook in stunned celebration. The sudden switch in momentum was terrific for the Warriors and horrific for the Saints.

"Two seconds," said St. Charles coach Tim Dailey. "What can you say? We had all the momentum at the end. But they got the ball out and Stone made a great run."

Cook's brother Mike, a familiar sight on the sidelines for many years at Warrior soccer games, was as surprised as anyone. And even more so.

"I didn't know who scored the goal for a while," said Mike. "I didn't see anybody run by me. I was down in our defensive end when it happened. My other brother asked me if I knew who scored the goal and I didn't. I couldn't believe it."

Matt Cook had trouble believing it, too. Unbelievable seemed to be the key word to the fantastic finish.

"It's a dream come true, no question about it," said Matt. "I didn't see the clock when I was going down the field, but I heard the guy (PA announcer) counting down the seconds. I kind of thought time had expired. But then everybody started jumping on me. Coach (Mel) Bunting said we would need a break to win, and we got it."

"We didn't play very good in the first half at all. Coach Baker said we had to go to work in the second half."

"Champs or chumps," said Hawkins.

The Warriors had given up their first goal in more than 45 minutes when Tom Stockwell converted a penalty kick in the second quarter. But Stone tied the game in the third quarter on an assist from Cook. The two exchanged places for the goal that has to be ranked close behind Herb Heaton's overtime winner last year.

"I was thinking of that," said Cook. "It was unbelievable."

And it provided a happy memory from a cold, dark, damp weekend.

MIKE COOK, for many years the Warriors' stat keeper, was surprised as anyone when his brother Matt scored the winning goal in Friday's quarterfinal win over St. Charles.

1988 season saw it all

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

This soccer season saw just about everything for the Warriors.

It began in the midnight heat of Aug. 15 and ended in the bone-chilling winds of Hoffman Estates on Saturday. In between was a four-week teachers strike which threatened to ruin the season.

But the Warriors bounced back and headed to the state tournament in high gear. After St. Louis U. High scored 14 seconds into the fourth quarter of the season finale for a 2-1 win, Granite City didn't give up a goal for 443 minutes and 10 seconds. It finally ended Saturday morning with a 2-1 loss to Buffalo Grove. Incredibly, it was only the second time the Warriors had ever allowed more than one goal in a state tournament game. They had lost 2-1 to Hinsdale Central in the 1975 quarter-finals, but one of those goals came on a penalty kick. So Saturday's game marked the first time Granite City ever allowed two on-field goals in tournament history.

The season started Sept. 1 with a 5-0 win at Belleville. Althoff, Scott Stone and Bob Strubberg scored two each after John VanBuskirk broke the ice 38 seconds into the game. Defending Missouri state champ Vianney spoiled the home opener with a 1-0 win at the Gauntlet on Sept. 3.

It would be exactly one month before the Warriors played again. The teacher strike forced the forfeit of nine games, including seven Southwestern Conference matches. The Warriors also missed a weekend trip to Chicago for a four-team tournament.

Action resumed on Oct. 3 with the Tournament of Champions. The Warriors scored victories over Chamaine and Rosary before losing to SLUH 2-1 to miss out on the final four for the second straight year.

Granite City scored 5-0 wins over Cahokia and Belleville West on Oct. 13 and Oct. 15, respectively. Then came a 1-0 overtime win over McCluer North on Oct. 18 before the regular season ended with the 2-1 loss to SLUH on Oct. 20.

The Warriors rolled through the regional, sectional and super-sectional unscathed upon. They trounced Madison 7-0 on Oct. 22 and blanked Wood River 5-0 on Oct. 24 to win their 15th regional title in 17 years. Then came a 2-0 win over Chatham Glenwood on Oct. 27 and a 5-0 win over Springfield on Oct. 29 to capture the Edwardsville Sectional, their 12th sectional crown in 17 years.

A sectional title in the past meant a trip to state. But a super-sectional game was added this year, and the Warriors took that, too, with a 3-0 win over O'Fallon at SLUH on Nov. 1. Matt Cook scored with two seconds left in regulation time for a 2-1 win over St. Charles in Friday's quarterfinal game at Palatine before the season ended Saturday.

Through it all, senior Scott Stone emerged as the dominant player. He finished with 15 goals and 11 assists in only 16 games. He scored a goal in 12 of the 16 games, including at least one in each of the last nine games. In only two games did he fail to score at least an assist.

The Warriors outscored their opponents 50-8 on the field (each forfeit loss went as a 1-0 defeat.) Leading the defensive wall were goalie Scott Swanson and senior backs Chris Ryan and Bob Strubberg.

Strubberg, a striker all his life, was moved to the backfield after the strike when it was apparent Stone could handle the scoring.

"We needed some help on defense, and Bob had a great year back there," said coach Gene Baker. "And Scott was dominant. We didn't pour it on anybody or else there would have been games where he would have scored five or six goals."

While Stone was dominant this year, look for John VanBuskirk to be perhaps the area's premier player as a senior in 1989. He'll be leading a Warrior team looking to avenge a strike-riddled season that ended two games short of final glory.

goal. At 29:27 of the second quarter, sophomore Pat Rich — just into the game — blocked a Bison throw-in and sent it to Stone, breaking away from the pack down the middle. His hard drive from 20 yards went into the top right corner behind Nagy, who finished the year with 14 shutouts.

"Stone is a definite, constant threat," said Erfort. "We were marking him from behind with Mike Steele and having an outside back guard him from the front. Obviously, we didn't do it perfectly."

The Warriors clung to that slim lead until 50:44 of the third quarter. A quick Bison counter-attack saw senior midfielder Mark Kirtley center the ball from the left wing to Trelliving, who shot went in off Warrior keeper Scott Swanson's arm. It was Trelliving's 18th goal of the year. He got two more in the state title game to finish with 20.

Stone missed his breakthrough moments later, but things still looked pretty good starting the fourth quarter. The Warriors had a strong — and very cold — wind in their backs.

"The wind was tricky, though," said Baker. "We didn't always execute well with it."

Indeed, Jerry Thompson twice had throw-ins from the deep left corner in the second quarter but threw the ball out of bounds. "I was concerned going into the fourth quarter, but I wasn't scared," said Erfort. "We had Steele and Niko Kotcherba back on defense and I knew they wouldn't do anything crazy."

At 66:41, Kirtley got his second assist. He had the ball in the left corner and lofted a pass toward the Warrior goal. Byrne and another Bison player were there unmarked and Byrne headed it easily past Swanson.

The Warriors' best chance after that came when Chris Nolan broke through the defense with eight minutes left. But Nagy came out and just beat him to a through pass and smothered it.

"I knew this team had the mental makeup to do it," said Erfort. "We played well for about 31 of the first 40 minutes, so I didn't change too much at halftime. Granite City is a solid defensive club, but we were close. Just seeing Granite City here was a great incentive to our team. They know the name and all the tradition Granite City has."

"We played our hearts out," said Baker. "Their sweeper (Kotcherba) is a great player, but we gave him all day. We were limited with Chad Lignoul getting hurt yesterday. And Troy (Adamitis) came up with a great effort. He has been hurting all year, but he looked more like himself today. I'm really proud of all of them."

NOTES: For Adamitis, it was probably his last game in a Granite City uniform, although he is only a junior. His father has a new job in San Diego and Troy will be moving to California this week to join his family...Buffalo Grove outlasted the Warriors 19-10. They had four corner kicks while Granite City had none. The Warriors were whistled for 23 fouls (Birdsong and Stone picked up yellow cards) while the Bison received 15 fouls.
